SOLUTION BRIEF

Deception Services with FortiDeceptor (DaaS)

Active deception technology designed to expose attackers before damage occurs

SilverSky Deception Services with FortiDeceptor helps organizations identify attackers earlier by using deception technology, fake assets, and intelligent traps designed to detect malicious activity before threats spread across the environment.

Built on Fortinet's FortiDeceptor platform, the service combines honeypot concepts, threat analytics, and automated response capabilities to improve visibility into advanced threats, insider risks, ransomware activity, and lateral movement across IT, OT, and IoT environments.

Active deception and threat detection

SilverSky Deception Services with FortiDeceptor uses intelligent deception assets and automated analytics to help organizations identify suspicious behavior earlier and improve response effectiveness against evolving cyber threats.

Core Capabilities

Intelligent deception assets

Deploy realistic decoys, fake credentials, files, keys, and vulnerable systems designed to lure attackers and expose malicious activity before production systems are compromised.

Early reconnaissance and lateral movement detection

Identify attackers during reconnaissance, privilege escalation attempts, malware execution, and lateral movement activity across distributed environments.

Reduced false positives

FortiDeceptor provides highly substantiated alerts designed to improve analyst confidence and reduce unnecessary investigation workloads.

Automated quarantine and response

Built-in automated mitigation capabilities help isolate suspicious activity and stop threats before they spread further across the environment.

Ransomware disruption

FortiDeceptor helps redirect malware toward deceptive assets and fake files, triggering automated blocking actions against compromised endpoints.

Dynamic threat scalability

Deception assets and protection layers automatically scale based on changing risk levels and evolving threat activity.

With nearly three decades of experience, SilverSky delivers a comprehensive portfolio of Professional Services, Managed Security Services, and Managed Extended Detection and Response, combining advisory expertise, security operations, and advanced threat detection under one roof.